

Easter Egg Hunts in Kinmundy (1954-1972)

By Helen (Robb) Garrett

Every Easter, at around 1 p.m. all the children and parents in the Kinmundy area gathered at Lowe's Grove southeast of Kinmundy on McCarty Road. Jesse George, a member of the Lions Club, donated a case of eggs. The Lions Club members colored and hid eggs in three places roped off. The kids stood near the ropes with baskets and sand buckets ready to run at the 2 p.m. signal. There was a golden egg hidden in each age group. The ones that found the golden egg got a basket of goodies, candy, and toys from Tresslars 5&10 in Salem. This was something we all looked forward to.
